RUSSIA'S ATTITUDE.

An Official Note as to Her Relations
With China.

POLICY NOT CHANGED

Russia Declares She Has Not Been a
War With China, but Assisted That Nation Against the Insurgent Uprisings.

Washington, May 13.—Russia's efforts to facilitate the much muddled negotiations respecting China and to hasten the withdrawal of foreign troops from the Celestial empire are the subject of an official note, a copy of which has just been received in Washington. It contains the first complete official statement of the course of the Russian government that has been made.

The statement of Russia's policy was made simultaneously with her official declaration that while maintaining the present temporary situation in Manchuria in order to preserve peace the imperial government is content to calmly await events. It declares virtually that Russia has kept steadily in view the fact that in sending her troops into China no hostile intent was entertained toward China; on the contrary, their presence was for the purpose of rendering effective aid to the government of China in its struggle against the insurgents.

The note is a lengthy review of diplomatic developments, beginning with the steps taken by the powers to seek an understanding of the alarming occurrences in China last year. The note further states that Russia, without separating herself from the common action of other powers by reason of her special alliance with China, as an adjoining country, was obliged to reserve a certain freedom of action and to avoid taking part in engagements opposed to her interests or contrary to her historical conditions. The note states explicitly that, "contrary to advice of certain powers," Russia declared openly from the beginning that she was not at war with the Chinese empire.

"As to the political program of Russia," the official statement continues, "that is to say, the immediate objects she had in view they were set forth in the first official declaration made in relation to China affairs and are stated as follows:

"The rescue of the Russian representatives at Peking and the protection of Russian subjects against the criminal attacks of Chinese insurgents; to render assistance to the Chinese government against the insurrection, with a view, as quickly as possible, to re-establish law and order in the empire.

"When all the powers interested had decided to send troops to China for the same purpose, the imperial government proposed, as a rule of conduct in relation to the affairs of China, the fundamental principles:

"The maintenance of the agreement between the powers; the preservation of China existing ab initio; the elimination of everything that might lead to the partition of the Celestial empire; and finally, the establishment by a joint effort of the legal central government at Peking, which of itself could guarantee the peace and order of the country."

An agreement was reached upon these points by most of the powers. The liberation of the diplomats and foreigners having been accomplished, Russia, in order to induce the Chinese court to return withdrew her legation and troops to Tien Tsin. In the opinion of Russia, a military occupation of Peking was not in accord with her previous declarations.

Anticipatory of the negotiations, Russia suggested the matters which should be considered, mentioning the advisability of a joint agreement as to the importation of arms, the punishment of the chief promoters of the insurrection and the indemnification of governments, corporations and private individuals who had suffered losses in consequence of the trouble.

"But, in order not to place China in a position where it may become absolutely impossible for her to meet the pecuniary demands, and in order to attain some practical results," the note said, "due moderation must be observed in this regard."

It was at this moment that Germany proposed the adoption of coercive measures for the purpose of bringing the Chinese court back to Peking.

"In the opinion of the imperial government," the note states, "that object should be attained by peaceful means; for only under such circumstances could the return to the capital of the emperor of China and the emperor's regent prove effective and consequently Russia refused to take part in a coercive measure against the Chinese court which might have resulted in fresh popular disturbances throughout China."

The differences of opinion among the ministers as to the penalties to be inflicted upon the chief instigators of the insurrection are referred to as follows:

"Having declared itself at the outset opposed to the death penalty the imperial government directed its representative in view of the nature of the discussions which arose upon that point not only not to enter into the debate relating to the capital punishment, but not to take part in discussing the punishment to be inflicted upon the Chinese dignitaries. Up to the present moment the conference between the representatives of the powers and Chinese plenipotentiaries in regard to the demands formulated in the collective note have not been terminated."

CHINESE AFFAIRS.

Dr. Ament Speaks of the Needs of the Chinese and of Christianity.

Chicago, May 13.—"Pekin is now the present political capital of Christendom, there you can put your finger upon the pulse of the nations; all eyes are turned toward that great city. It is the greatest practical school in the world; there the nations are gaining an education and an insight into Chinese affairs which they have never possessed before." Thus said Dr. William S. Ament, the returned missionary, speaking at the First Congregational church Sunday night, upon the president situation in China. Continuing, he said:

"It is a remarkable fact that in this great Chinese nation one of the oldest among the civilized, the very home of conservatism, the natives are beginning to realize the need of new ideas, modernism is fast gaining a foothold."

"Only a few days before I left China a prominent Chinese gentleman said to me, 'We Chinese know that we need many things, but first of all we need a new religion.' And that is true, they do need a new religion and Christianity is thoroughly adequate for the regeneration of the Chinese character. Christianity now has more friends among the Chinese than it ever had; thousands of Chinese appreciate the Christian religion more than they did a year ago, the church is by no means exterminated or weakened; it is still full of vigor, and I look forward to a bright and glorious future for it in the Chinese empire."

MARKET QUIETER.

Union Pacific Recovers from the Slump and Northern Pacific Slow.

New York, May 13.—Under reassuring news from London that a basis of settlement with Northern Pacific shorts had been agreed upon and J. P. Morgan was lending stock "flat" for delivery in that market the New York Exchange began business today strong. At first trading was well distributed throughout the list and was at prices generally higher than the close on Friday. Union Pacific sold at 116 a few minutes after 10 o'clock, showing a gain of $40 a share as compared with Thursday's low point. Development in the Northern Pacific situation are awaited with the keenest interest, but it was the general opinion in Wall street that it will be some time before the question of control could be definitely settled. It is believed one of the party in the controversy holds control through preferred stock and that several intricate legal points are involved concerning the right of directors of the company to retire preferred stock at par and thus deprive it of its voting power. Heavy buying of Union Pacific, which up to the present has not been explained, continues, and during the first half hour prices rose on large transactions to 123.

There were selling orders in Union Pacific above 120 and stock fell back to 116½, but immediately a rally followed. Towards noon the market became somewhat weaker and quieter and generally declined in small transactions.

There was no sale of the Northern Pacific common until 11:30 when the sale of 100 shares was made at 160, an advance of 18 points from Friday's last sale.

Morgan Help Britishers Out.

London, May 13.—The stock exchange committee and J. P. Morgan have come to the rescue of the situation and the difficulty in which the operators and brokers who have given calls for Northern Pacific for the end of May and July found themselves, is satisfactorily settled. The committee decided that the "buying in" of Northern Pacific common and preferred should be suspended for the present. This means the stock need not be delivered immediately. The committee also fixed the making up of the price of Northern Pacific common at 140. Mr. Morgan is lending Northern Pacific at "evens," that is for nothing.

DR. TAYLOR'S LECTURES.

Vital Truths of Every Day Life Fortified by Presented.

Dr. E. O. Taylor's course of lectures is attracting large crowds and are proving highly entertaining and instructive. They are based on the broad and vital subjects of good citizenship and scientific temperance and are wholly new in the lecture field. They touch and teach the principles of every day living. The truths are presented in a clear, concise and attractive way that rivets attention and make lasting impressions.

"Citizenship in the Light of Christ and Paul" was the topic at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon and the audience was so large it immediately determined to hold the remainder of the meetings at the opera house. Sunday night the theme, "That Boy of Yours," was one close to every parent's heart. The speaker brought out with startling effect the growth of crime among boys, the evil influence of lack of discipline in the home, the liquor traffic, tobacco, bad literature, and the double standard of morality for the sexes. He showed that lawless homes turn out upon the city and the state lawless citizens. The discourse last night was about "Microbes and Men," and tonight the course of lectures will close with "Modern Science vs. the Liquor Traffic," illustrated by chemical experiments.

DOES IT PAY TO BUY CHEAP?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest, and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. Get Green's Prize Almanac. For sale by Wilson-Jenkins Drug Co.

FOR A COUNTY FAIR.

Business League Will Discuss the Proposition this Afternoon at 5 O'clock.

The business League will meet in the K. of P. Hall this afternoon at 5 o'clock and a considerable amount of important business will come up for consideration, therefore a full attendance of the members and all those who will unite with the league is desired.

Col. Foster is expected to address the league on the subject of the girls' industrial school, the fight for which Bryan has by no means given up.

Among other matters, the question of a county fair will be taken up. The time seems to be ripe for such a movement, and there seems little doubt that it can be put on foot. The driving club has set the trend of sentiment towards a fair and it is probable that the club will allow the use of their grounds and track for the purpose. The success of the celebration last year leaves no doubt that Bryan should have an annual event to draw the people together and entertain them. To the features of the fair, premiums and other attractions could be added a floral parade and trade's display, and the occasion could be made a great winner with a comparatively small outlay owing to favorable conditions. Prof. Connell is expected to address the meeting on this subject.

Come out to the meeting this afternoon and help the league along.

Mrs. Dave Derden of Hillsboro is visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. B. Philpott of College.

Texas has been so prosperous that the people are planning all over the state to spend the hot month in "Kool Kolorado;" and the number of Southern people up there this year will be numerous. People always want the full worth of their money, and this accounts for the plans of almost every one providing for using "THE DENVER ROAD" from Fort Worth. Because, you know, we have the shortest line, make the quickest time, run the only through train—with Cafe Cars, Pullmans, Modern Coaches, Etc., so "You don't have to apologize for riding on The Denver Road!"

MRS. M'KINLEY IS ILL

Taken from Delmonte to San Francisco on a Special Train

PRESIDENT WORRIED

Her Condition Is Serious, But Not Alarming—Dr. Rixey Says She Will Be Restored After a Few Days Rest.

San Francisco, May 13.—The sudden illness of Mrs. McKinley has caused an unexpected change in the itinerary of President McKinley. He arrived in this city Sunday afternoon. The state of Mrs. McKinley's health was such that the president decided to leave Delmonte and bring his wife to this city immediately to the home of Henry T. Scott where she could have complete rest for a few days and where a specialist could be consulted if necessary.

A special of two cars and a locomotive was made up from the president's special and at noon Sunday the president, Mrs. McKinley, Miss Barber, the president's niece, Secretary Cortelyou and wife, Dr. Rixey and H. T. Scott and wife left Delmonte for San Francisco, leaving the remainder of the presidential party at Delmonte.

Only a few hundred people greeted the president upon his arrival in this city. His coming was not generally known. The president, in order to avoid the crowd that was expected to assemble at the depot at Third and Townsend streets, left the train with his party at Valencia street, a station in the southern part of the city. There Mrs. McKinley was carried in a chair by two negro porters from the private car to a closed carriage in waiting. She was heavily veiled and the President and Dr. Rixey followed close behind. Mrs. McKinley was gently placed in the carriage and the president and Dr. Rixey took seats in the same vehicle. The president was quite pale and looked anxious. The rest of the party followed in carriages. Mr. and Mrs. Scott had arrived at their residence ahead of the president and were waiting to receive their guests. Mrs. McKinley was again lifted out of the carriage and placed in an invalid chair and carried into the house.

Secretary Cortelyou said there was nothing alarming in Mrs. McKinley's indisposition and that perfect quiet and rest for a few days would restore her to her usual health.

It was the impression, however, of those who saw Mrs. McKinley that she is very ill and that her present state may result in an entire change of the president's programme.

Dr. Rixey said that Mrs. McKinley stood the trip from Delmonte much better than he expected. He said her condition is not serious. She will stay here at least a week and have perfect rest. By that time she will be able to continue the journey.

MRS. M'KINLEY IMPROVED.
President May Abandon His Trip into the Northwest.

San Francisco, May 13.—Mrs. McKinley rested well Sunday night and early this morning was quite as comfortable as her physicians expected her to be.

There is some probability of President McKinley abandoning his proposed trip in the southwest in view of the condition of Mrs. McKinley. Unless there is a radical change for the better the presidential party will leave for Washington soon after the celebrations in this section is over. Mr. McKinley is very much worried over the condition of his wife and it is even possible that many of the functions arranged in his honor for this week will be postponed or dropped altogether.

Secretary Cortelyou has given notice that should Mrs. McKinley continue the trip with the president she will not under any circumstances engage in any of the social functions arranged for the party at any place, but that Mrs. McKinley will remain as quiet as possible during the remainder of the tour.
